

I was reading the article in the newspaper about Mrs. Katona-King death a while back and as I was reading it, I saw that it said that I was a stone cold murder. After I read those words I couldn't even read it no more because it hurted my heart to hear people say those type of words about me.

I thought snatching iPhones was the safest and quickest way to make money and support myself without hurting anyone. Now I understand what I did was wrong and it hurted a lot of people deep down inside. I also know how it feels to loose somebody you love. That's just something I can't beat around the bush on. My own mother and my brother and sister died, and those deaths hurt me a lot.

The day I committed that crime I was never trying to hurt anyone or let along take somebody life. All I wanted to do was snatch an iPhone and get away. But by me snatching that iPhone I cause an innocent person to loose their life over that and I know I deserve punishment for that. I feel sorry everyday that I did that. I know I hurt your family tremendously.

But all I'm asking is can the family of this victim please forgive me. Because everyday I think about what I could've did different but it don't change the fact of what I did and this is something we both have to live with for the rest of our lives. I'm sorry for putting everybody through this. I just want to end this letter by saying I never meant to take somebody life over this and hopefully the family can forgive me.

Sincerely,

Prince Watson
